PRESS

"displayed its scintillating passagework and poetic calm with great flair"
The Guardian, Cheltenham Festival, Rian Evans

"... Most impressive, though, was her natural sense of pacing, allowing the hollowed-out climax of Pour les Arpèges Composées to gather like a wisp of smoke in sunlight before dissipating in a passing breeze."
The Guardian, Purcell Room, Guy Dammann

The first programme features two key works for piano by French composers: Debussy's Estampes and the Sonatine by Ravel. The poise and discipline of Ravel's music stands in contrast to the luxurious exoticism of Debussy's. Ravel's Sonatine and Bach's imposing Toccata in C minor precede Beethoven's turbulent 'Pathétique' sonata in the first half. Mendelssohn's witty Andante and Rondo Capriccioso appears in the second and is followed by an enduringly popular work, the sombre Variations on a Corelli Theme by Rachmaninov.

The second programme pairs movements from Couperin's Pièces de Clavecin with Ravel's Le Tombeau de Couperin, written in a neo-classical style as an eighteenth-century dance suite and dedicated to friends who were killed during the First World War. Sibelius's Impromptus form an intriguing and imaginative interlude. The second half opens with Satie's wistful and haunting Nocturnes, written just after the War, and concludes with Chopin's Études, Op. 25. The mainstay of every pianist's training, these are fiendishly virtuosic and dramatic pieces which are universally loved by concert audiences.

"In Ravel's Tombeau de Couperin, the pianist was likewise in full expressive command of her fingers, conveying the swirling shimmer and sweet melancholy of a work that veers between elegance and emotion."

Conrad Wilson, Herald Scotland

"Hammond recalled both Myra Hess and Annie Fischer, great Beethoven pianists of bygone generations."

Terry Blain, Culture Northern Ireland
