PRESS

"displayed its scintillating passagework and poetic calm with great flair"
The Guardian, Cheltenham Festival, Rian Evans

"... Most impressive, though, was her natural sense of pacing, allowing the hollowed-out climax of Pour les Arpèges Composées to gather like a wisp of smoke in sunlight before dissipating in a passing breeze."
The Guardian, Purcell Room, Guy Dammann

The programme opens with Bach's imposing Toccata in D major and moves on to the grace and elegance of Ravel's Sonatine. Beethoven's 'Pathétique' Sonata, in its turbulence and passion, heralded a new way of writing for the piano and lies on the cusp between the Classical and Romantic styles.

The second half is comprised of Chopin's well-loved Études, Op. 25, performed by Clare at the 'Chopin and his Europe Festival' in Warsaw this August. An essential part of any pianist's armoury, these pieces are much more than merely technical studies and include some of the most beautiful and exhilarating music to be written for the piano.

Alternative works include variations by Rachmaninov and pieces by Sibelius and Mendelssohn. The études by Lyapunov and Kapustin are featured on Clare's forthcoming disc for BIS Records, to be released in February 2015 (see www.clarehammond.com/etude.html). Ferociously virtuosic pieces, these are universally popular with audiences and would form an electrifying close to any programme.

"In Ravel's Tombeau de Couperin, the pianist was likewise in full expressive command of her fingers, conveying the swirling shimmer and sweet melancholy of a work that veers between elegance and emotion."

Conrad Wilson, Herald Scotland

"Hammond recalled both Myra Hess and Annie Fischer, great Beethoven pianists of bygone generations."

Terry Blain, Culture Northern Ireland
